ØZI

Stefan Chen Yi-fan, known professionally as ØZI, He is a Taiwanese American singer-songwriter and rapper.

Background and artistic style

Born in 1997 in Los Angeles, California, OZI moved back to Taiwan at the age of two, where he attended an American school. Influenced by his mother, who is a popular singer in Taiwan, OZI showed a strong talent for music from a young age. He was admitted to Berklee College of Music in 2015. He took a leave of absence in 2017 and returned to Taiwan to start his career as artist.

His musical tastes were shaped by a diverse range of artists, including American hip-hop legend Eminem, R&B sensation Justin Bieber, and various icons from the Mandopop scene. This eclectic mix of influences laid the foundation for his love of hip-hop, R&B, and pop music. Rather than confining himself to a single genre, OZI's music is a seamless blend of R&B, hip-hop, and pop, creating a unique and innovative sound.

Transformative Period

One of the most transformative periods in OZI's life was during the creation and release of his debut album, "OZI: The Album" in 2018. This period marked his transition from a nepo baby to a rising star in the Mandopop industry. The album was a critical and commercial success, earning him multiple awards and establishing his unique sound.
